

A good life begins with learning to be grateful

When people are in a low mood and have a bad life, there will inevitably be some negative emotions and thoughts. This article is mainly about how to get out of the negative state of small skills. After reading this article, you may have different opinions on your life. Based on your personal experience, please write a passage of about 100 words with your understanding.

[illegible]